With 22 years as a Professional Licensed Surveyor and a total of 31 years in the profession, Mr. Wallis brings to Axiom Engineering a broad base of experience both in the field and in the office. His versatility has been well developed by a history of employment in small, aggressive companies.

Mr. Wallis began his career as an Instrument Man, performing baseline stakeouts and cross section surveys for multiple bridge and highway projects. He served as assistant for highway engineering jobs in the mid-western Pennsylvania region. Recent projects have included boundary and topographic surveys, as well as building, highway, street and utility stakeouts. Mr. Wallis is experienced in utilizing the latest GPS equipment to ensure that survey control is accurately referenced in compliance with regulatory requirements.

Mr. Wallis surveys with our new "top-of-the line" Topcon Total Station Robotic System 9005 reflectorless robot with Fast Trac and brings the information into digital format using the AutoCAD® Land Development Desktop Program.
